President's Report

Greetings Region Fellow Gardeners,

Congratulations go out to Ken Begnuad. His introduction 'Lil' Black Buds' won two national awards in 2018. 'Lil' Black Buds' won best early morning bloomer and the Donn Fisher Memorial Award given for the best flower measuring under 3". The amazing thing was over 180 Garden Judges voted for his flower for the DFMA. Region 13 has not had a stout winner since Pauline Henry won with 'Siloam Double Classic' in 1993. Do I see a Stout Medal for Region 13 in 2019?

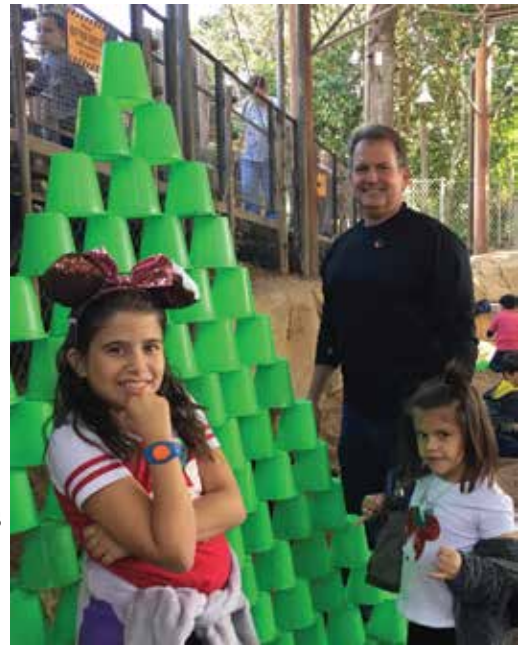

The Baton Rouge Daylily Society would like to invite you to the 2019 Regional Business Meeting. Other than some clinics, everything will take place on Saturday, May 11. The garden tours, self-driving, will be from 7:30—2:00. If you are taking Garden Judges or Exhibition Judges II, those clinics will be held from 2:00—4:00. The Business Meeting, Auction, Hybridizers Slide Show, and Awards Ceremony will take place from 6:00 PM till. This should allow you to cut the cost of one room night stay and should only have you away from your garden for the one day. If you plan to take Garden Judges I or Exhibition Judges I those clinics will be held on Friday afternoon May 10. You need to let us know ASAP so we can order instruction packets from the American Daylily Society.

If you spoke with anyone who attended last year's Regional Meeting, you heard how relaxing it was to drive yourself to the gardens stopping when and where you wanted for snacks, refreshments, meals and of course restroom breaks. The best part was the ability to stay as long as you wanted in the gardens. This may be the last time, for a while, that Baton Rouge hosts a Regional event so don't miss out.

The Clarence Crochet Award will be on line as it was last year. Hybridizers please send me your entries. Last day to submit entries is May 1. Each AHS member is allowed to send up to three seedling images. Images must be of a single flower with no recognizable background features or text on the image. Last year we had 37 entries I hope to double that this year. Images can be sent to daylilyjoe@gmail.com

The Popularity Poll is upon us once again. Half of the flowers in this year's poll were introduced by Region 13 hybridizers! Many of those flowers are pictured in this publication. I ask that each of you vote for at least one flower. If you think your vote does not count, there were three votes difference between the top three vote getters in 2018. Last year Region 13 came in 2nd place at 43.5% participation. Let's take the top spot this year. Remember you MUST be an AHS member. You can vote for up to 10 cultivars. You should only vote ONCE.

Life is short. Enjoy every moment,

'Forever Rosalie'

DOWNSIZING

Several years ago when I first became interested in daylilies, I never even gave it a thought there would be a time I would be thinking about downsizing. And, it hasn't been that many years ago, I just seem to have become older overnight – ha!

I love all my daylilies and it's hard to pick and choose as to which ones to remove from my garden. I've had a little help in deciding, however, since I had a water leak and am having a new water line installed in the spring – the daylilies I am having to remove are the ones going to the NWADS Club Plant Sale in April. A great way to downsize and help your club out at the same time.

I'm also donating several Region 13 daylilies to the daylily basket being given away at the AHS National Convention in Madison, WI. My main problem is going to Regional and National Meetings and coming home with more daylilies – registration plant, bus plant, winning daylilies, etc. What's a Mother to do?

Good news from AHS – Rebecca Board has volunteered to be the Pop Poll Chair to replace Bob Martin, who resigned the end of last year. She is definitely a Godsend to all the RPD's who rely on the Pop Poll Chair to compile all the Pop Poll information. Of course, along with getting older comes health issues and I had more than my fair share in 2018. I told Santa all I wanted for Christmas was a happy and healthy new year. I'd really rather worry about building another bed to hold several new daylilies than to worry about downsizing. Sorry to say, we don't have a second chance, so I'm glad I enjoyed my daylilies while I could and will enjoy them while I am able (Lord willing).

The Popularity Poll as a Buying Guide

Hope this column finds you in good spirits and ready to purchase plants for this coming spring. At the time of this writing, winter is loosening an icy grip on Northwest Arkansas. As of last week, our house furnace continued to run, snow was falling, and Monday and Tuesday morning temperatures were in back in the SINGLE digits, as though I was back in Minnesota. Last night, we've shifted gears into passing thunderstorms, and temperatures are in the 50s-and 60s. Last week, Mardi Gras went off without a hitch in New Orleans, even though temperatures only reached the upper 30s. These cold conditions offer challenging evidence for those who believe our growing seasons will be longer; when, these last few years they're getting shorter in Northwest Arkansas, making it difficult to add plants to our beds. As an example, for years I grew Tim Tassin's "Hippie Crash Pad" unsuccessfully, and then my daughter moved to New Orleans in July 2017, and I gave her this plant and several others, and guess what? Pictures she sends me of the plant that is blooming again in September? Our region, like so many others in the U.S., has big ranges in growing conditions. Getting through these increasingly long and cold temperatures is tough on all plants, and some can't recover in time to produce a scape. Similarly, trying to get "dormant" cultivars to "rest-up" and produce a scape while withstanding a year with no dormancy is unrealistic.

I have returned to the role of Regional Publicity Director (RPD) and you can't resist thinking, "I wish I had done this differently." As is always the case, the AHS is adjusting to a new type of gardener—now, a gardener can receive better information on-line, than the benefits from an active member in a local gardening club. What information is provided on-line, particularly about the cultivars which do well throughout our region, must be both accurate and helpful.

I will be tabulating the Popularity Poll and will note those plants receiving votes from various parts of our region, so it is suitable for clubs to mention this to new growers at plant sales, as you would any plant that is a good grower in your gardens. There are several on the ballot that I grow, that have wonderful flowers, but are too slow to increase for me to ever part with a single fan. On the other hand, there are many on this ballot that are such excellent growers, that they are never in short supply—or even reappear in places I've removed them. For example, Nita Copenhaver's "Beautiful Edgings" looks great in gardens from South Carolina to Louisville—it's easy to see why people will always grow it. Voting will remain unchanged, but there'll be additional information in how your vote will be reported. In the past, if you voted online, I received a duplicate of your ballot in an e-mail that I would need to retrieve from a "junk" folder (which I have learned to remedy), but I didn't see the purpose of this at the time. I will tabulate your votes as they are done by the AHS, but I will include your address with the votes. If you choose to vote by mail, write in votes will be tabulated and listed. Plants receiving two write in votes from separate gardens will be added to next year's ballot. I would prefer the AHS allow a separate write-in procedure for those you feel should be on the ballot, but until this is changed, your write-in will count as one of the 10 selected.

Prepared by Ed Herringshaw, Region 13 Treasurer on 2/27/2019

American Hemerocallis Society Region 13 Inc. is a 501c3 non-profit corporation registered in the state of Indiana.

I hope everyone had great holiday and Mardi Gras seasons. For those in the southern parts of Region 13, the winter of 2018 was much milder than the previous year. Because of that, daylilies are now actively growing and several people have already reported having scapes. It's also the time of year we begin thinking about blooms we hope to enjoy. I hope your bloom season exceeds your wildest dreams.

The Region 13 ending bank balance increased after the 2017 decline. Primary reasons were lower costs with only two ARKLA publications and no officer travel expenses. Income was about the same as in previous years. The 2018 ending balance was $29,354 or about $868 higher than year-end 2017. As always the business meeting auction is the primary income while the ARKLA publication was a major expense. More details are in the included report.

Now is the time to make plans to attend the Region 13 meeting being held in Baton Rouge on May 11. This year will be a little different as it will be a one day event. Hope you can make it.

Regional Publicity Director Report

To assure your write-in vote is not listed among the many cultivars receiving one vote, these singular write-ins will be listed for information purposes—specifically, if someone writes-in a daylily, it will be recognized as a plant superior in qualities to those listed on the ballot that they currently grow. The cultivars receiving your vote should be those you’ve grown. As a favor to the Region, could you also underline (or highlight) the additional cultivars you grow that are on the ballot? I would like the results to identify the cultivars remaining in the growers’ beds, which are not necessarily in their top-ten, but until they see a better one they should add, they’re going to keep growing this plant. That’s very important information. I’m sure you’re aware that the AHS reports having some bizarre number of registered cultivars recorded in their database (89,000+), when we know AHS membership is less than half of what it was when I became an active member in the early 90s—and it’s a struggle to find cultivars registered in the 90s still in commerce. It would be more accurate to report a reliable estimate of cultivars that are currently grown, in a positive way, such as “Each Region’s Popularity Poll includes a ballot with over 100 cultivars, where half the members grow twenty or more cultivars on this list, and over 3,000 new registered cultivars are introduced each year. There won’t be a “daylily census” but it’s time to report as much accurate information that is valuable to increasing the number of daylilies. A special accomplishment will also be noted. A cultivar with any state agricultural school affiliation, such as “Tiger Bait” or “Hog Wild” that amazingly receives votes from both Louisiana and Arkansas growers, or simply is grown in the same garden, is an unprecedented accomplishment. For those of you that hybridize, this could be a challenge.

This year, as returning RPD, your location will be recorded with your vote, and a tabulation will be available to all of you, by closest daylily group to your garden. I will also get all your addresses “geocoded” so we can have a graphic display of top cultivars in the area. More than saying “your vote is important” —your growing conditions are unique—and important information as well.

Please vote in the Popularity Poll Balloting. I agree to perform this tabulation for the next three years, so, it’s not necessary to have a new RPD learn to perform any tabulation tasks, and if the growing conditions are important to note cultivars doing well across the Region is popular—it can remain, and the Popularity Poll can be looked upon as a starting point for new members. More information can be gained from the Pop Poll—much more than featuring our top 5 vote getters on the AHS web site.

Thanks in advance,

Bob Stassen

2018 Regional Meeting*

Amond Garden

We have a new tour garden for this years Regional Meeting. The Renee Amond Garden is located about twelve blocks from the Rossie's Garden in Hammond, Louisiana. Renee is relatively new to daylilies receiving her first cultivars in 2011 from her former SLU professor and daylily enthusiast, Dr. Lawrence Davis. Since then, she has acquired over 200 cultivars and is a member of four daylily clubs as well as AHS. You will find mainly registered daylilies in the front of the beautifully landscaped garden. Her favorites are the daylilies with heavy ruffles and teeth. As you enter the rear of the garden you will immediately notice her love of garden art mixed in with her daylily seedlings. The backyard was once home to her two beloved dogs who have since passed have made way for a fun area with re-purposed art, companion plants and of course daylilies. With several planned projects, she is most excited about her "She Shed" which will be created out of her dog's kennel. Renee is one of Region 13's newest Garden Judges.

Peter and Carol Lazar Garden

Peter and Carol Lazar are new to the Regional Tour thing but are not new to growing flowers. Last year's tour had their garden overflowing with interesting pieces of garden art, plants and of course daylilies. They were awarded the Tot Ratliff Award given to the best clump as seen in a Regional Tour Garden. Their two clumps of Tuscowilla Snowdrift were nothing short of amazing with fifty plus fans between them and over twenty blooms showing off. If the temperatures continue to stay unseasonably warm many of their 30 plus hibiscus will be blooming. They are some of Region 13's newest Garden Judges having to leave their garden as soon as the tour closed last year, fight the Baton Rouge traffic and arrive just in time to take Garden Judges II. Most recently Peter has accepted the position as Vice President for the Baton Rouge Daylily Society.

Ronnie and Cathryn Rossie Garden

An American Daylily Society Display Garden, the Rossie Garden is once again on Regional Tour. Home to hundreds of named varieties, future introductions and promising seedlings this well maintained and beautifully designed garden is always a pleasure to visit. To date Ronnie has introduced right at 60 flowers and has many more being evaluated for future introduction.

President of the Northshore Daylily Society since its inception, both Ronnie and Cathryn have been active supporters of daylilies, local, regional and National organizations.

Brenda and Jim Bridges Garden

Jim is the builder and you can see his attention to detail from the quality of home and property. Brenda on the other hand is a master gardener has loved plants all of her life. There are plant varieties galore from petunias to perennials and azaleas to zinnias she grows it all. Though she has a hundred or so daylilies in this garden “they” are the companion plants in this garden. Well landscaped and meticulously maintained you can tell the garden is nothing short of a passion

Botanical Garden of Baton Rouge

You would be hard pressed to find as many different cultivars grown in one garden much less a public garden. You will find over one thousand different daylily varieties intermixed in the ten different garden areas. There is a crape myrtle and live oak grove. There are sensory, iris, butterfly, rose and ginger gardens. If you have time, take a tour of Baton Rouge's newest library. The Goodwood Library is beautiful as well as functional. Claire Fontenot and a small team of plant enthusiast maintain this AHS Display garden.

Chris and Brandi Bridges

With a little arm twisting Chris and Brandi agreed to allow their garden to be on Regional Tour. A lawyer by day and chauffeur and cheerleader for his daughters the rest of his waking hours, they were concerned with having enough time to prepare the garden. With this being the last Regional tour for the foreseeable future “why not”. The garden showed out last year with several clumps having multiple blooms. The Bridges are growing many of the club plants for the Baton Rouge Daylily Society and the Bell introductions did not disappoint. With another year in the ground they should put on an even better show.
